KETCH SNARK ON THE WAY

Jack London's Craft Coming First to Port of Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Flying from her mainmast the red flag of Socialism, Jack London's Snark, towed by a gasoline launch, passed through the Oakland estuary shortly after noon yesterday. She had been freed from Federal surveillance and scores of the author's friends thronged her deck as she lay at Franklin-street wharf to bid goodspeed to him and his wife on their long cruise. Cheer after cheer rent the air as the Snark moved down the channel and passed out into the bay, on her way to Bonita Cove, near Sausalito, where she will await the ebb tide this morning before sailing through the Golden Gate.

In the farewell levee on the dock leaders in Socialism hobbled with literary workers and a staid burgher friend or two mingled in the gathering with men of the professions. But for the most part the throng that gathered was made up of workmen as negligible in attire as the author himself. They all called him "Jack," and he seemed to know them all. They cheered when the two banners of red, the one bearing the initial S, for Snark and Socialism; the other, a black and white star, the London emblem, were hoisted by Captain Eames to the masthead. There they will fly until the cruise is done, carrying the message of Socialism to the people of the seven seas.

It was nearly twelve o'clock before a messenger from the office of the United States Marshal, before whom the attachment was levied, arrived with the papers that relieved Deputy Marshal John Planer from control of the boat. The deputy lost no time getting over the side and heading for a restaurant. But first, to show he harbored no ill-feeling at his enforced starvation, Deputy Planer shook hands all around, wished London "gluck auf," grinned enthusiastically at everybody, and took with him from the Snark the majesty of government that had kept the impatient crew forty-eight hours from their long voyage.

For two full days John Planer had stuck to a position where he could command both mooring lines, fearing should he leave for five minutes, that the boat would make sail and leave him. "Now I eat," he said cheerfully. "I guess they'll forget me. But I don't blame any one; just so everybody is satisfied. I have had one cup of coffee and a sandwich or two; now I shall get a little beer and something to eat."

When the author left the estuary he intended towing to Sausalito or Bonita Cove for the night. There compasses will be adjusted and with the turn of the tide this morning the final start made.

"Honolulu first," said London yesterday. "After that we are not very definite. Everybody's in good health, the bourgeoisie tradesmen have finally freed us, the boat is staunch, the weather fine. What more a man wants I don't know."

"Meet me in Paris," called Mrs. Jack London back through the megaphone as the boat disappeared. "Isn't it glorious? Good-by, everybody!"

The remaining members of the crew of the Snark are: Captain Roscoe Eames, under whose personal direction the Snark was built; Herbert Stoltz of Stanford University; Martin Johnson, cook, and Hideshisa Hochigi, cabin boy.

Not the least unique feature about the sailing of the Snark was the elevation to the highest point on the aftermast, of the first sweater worn at the University of California by James Hopper, the well known young California writer and formerly coach of the U. C. Varsity football team. Hopper and London are close personal friends and in a spirit of playfulness Hopper had suggested his blue and gold sweater as a suitable pennant for the Snark. London took him up, and as a result the gaily striped sweater will travel the seven seas close behind the socialist banners on the foremast.

"And I'll bet," said Hopper yesterday, "that my parti-colored old jersey will make a bigger hit with the South Sea Islanders than the monotonous streamers on the forepeak."

OAKLAND, April 26.—Jack London's schooner yacht Snark, lying at Franklin-street wharf and loading with stores and supplies preparatory to sailing on a voyage around the world with the author, was attached today by Deputy United States Marshal M. J. Fitzgerald on a writ issued from the United States district court at the instance of L. H. Sellers & Co., ship chandlers of San Francisco, who alleged that London was indebted to them for $247.79 for goods furnished.

TENNIS AT EWA COURT

The tennis tournament at Ewa plantation last Sunday, was not finished as was expected. The day was warm in the morning, but it cooled off during the afternoon.

There was a pretty good sized crowd from town to watch the games played. The first game commenced promptly at 9 o'clock, and the last one played was finished at 5:15. The rain came in little showers about this time, so they had to postpone the semi-finals and finals to next Sunday, weather permitting, when the winners of the cups will be known.

The following was the order of playing Sunday:

H. C. Schmidt and Gourea vs. McEachern and Olding; latter won: 6-4; 6-2.
A. M. Schmidt and Silver vs. Swift and Wright; former won: 6-2; 6-4.
Terada and West vs. Greenfield and Newman; former won: 10-8; 6-3.
Douglas and Muller vs. Brolan and Davidson; former won: 6-2; 3-6; 6-4.
Renton and DeVries vs. Guild and Godfrey; former won: 7-5; 7-5.
McKeever and Jenkins vs. McLean and Eklund; former won: 6-3; 6-1.
A. M. Schmidt and Silver vs. McEachern and Olding; latter won: 6-4; 3-6; 9-7.
Terada and West vs. Douglas and Muller; former won: 6-8; 6-2; 6-2.
Terada and West will play against McKeever and Jenkins and Renton and DeVries against McEachern and Olding next Sunday, and the winners of these two matches will play for the cup.

SHEFFIELD WON FROM EVERTON

LONDON, April 20.—Fully 60,000 admirers of football arrived in London today on special trains from Yorkshire, Lancashire and the Midlands to witness the final game in the English cup ties at the Crystal Palace between Everton, the holder of the trophy, and Sheffield. With the contingents from the south the railroad managers estimate at least 80,000 persons came to London to see the game. The metropolis provided its full quota, bringing the total number to about 100,000. By the time the game opened the standing room was packed. All the seating capacity at the grounds had been sold a week ahead.

Sheffield kicked off and scored a goal within 20 minutes. Everton then became the aggressor, but Sheffield put up a fine defense, and it was not until just before the end of the first half that the holders of the cup were able to tie the score.

During the last quarter of the game both teams put in their best work, neither being able to score for some time. Then one of the Sheffield forwards got the ball and with a well directed kick won the second goal. Everton was unable to score after that and Sheffield captured the trophy.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone presented the cup to the winners.

DAN RENEAR STILL WINNING

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Highly elated at winning four out of five meets, the swimming team of the University of Pennsylvania returned from its Western trip yesterday, accompanied by the water polo team, which had not been as successful in contests, says the New York Sun. The only organization which downed the Quakers in swimming was the Chicago Athletic Association, which, of course, had the services of Handy. Dan Renear of California, was as usual the star man of the college team, lowering the tank records for the 100, 40 and 50 yard races at the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois. The other teams which were defeated in the races, diving and plunging for distance represented the Missouri Athletic Club of St. Louis and the Carnegie Club of Braddock, Pa.

JOY GETS ONE LONE MENTION

The fans may get a chance to see the much advertised Barney Joy in action this week. The curiosity to see the Hawaiian is still unsatisfied, and the management will probably put him on the hill one day this week so that the critics may judge for themselves what the big pitcher can do. Any time Joy is announced to pitch he will draw his first time. What he will draw on subsequent occasions will depend on the impression he makes on the on-lookers in his maiden effort.—S. F. Examiner.

OAHUS TAKE FIRST GAME

Johnny Williams Pitches Gilt-Edged Ball Against the Kamehamehas.

The first baseball game of the inter-scholastic league between Oahu College and Kamehameha Schools took place yesterday afternoon on the Punahou campus, and was won by the collegians, by a score of 4 to 0. It was a remarkable game from start to finish, and was probably the fastest game ever played in these islands, for the time consumed in the full nine innings was only sixty minutes.

For the past two or three years the Kams have always been short-handed in twirlers, but this year is an exception. Their pitcher, Capt. Lota, discharged his task yesterday as if he were a veteran in the box. Were it not for his fine pitching the score would undoubtedly have been much larger.

Johnny Williams for the Buff and Blue pitched a hitless game. His work was all that could be desired. He was very cool and used good judgment. Only twenty-nine men faced him, and out of these, he struck out nine, walked one, and off his delivery not a single hit was made. In him Oahu College has a pitcher who is second only to the late South-paw Ahrens.

Capt. J. Desha handled the bunch of players very well and was there with the goods. The other Desha made a spectacular one-handed catch out in the left garden in the sixth inning. Lo On, the only six-foot Chinaman, can certainly do something with the stick. He started the game going in the first inning by making a single into right, and in the eighth he connected the ball squarely with the big stick, and swatted out a home run.

The collegians began business in the third inning. After Winne had struck out, Lyman made a two-base hit to left, stole third and came home on W. Desha's slow bunt. The latter was caught stealing home, and the inning ended by Lo On's fly to the right fielder. Then nothing came off until the sixth inning, when J. Desha made a three-base hit. He came in on Lo On's hit to shortstop. In the seventh, McDougal, after getting his base on balls, by a series of bunts advanced to third and on Winne's hit to shortstop, who fumbled it, got home safely. After Lo On's home run in the eighth inning no more scoring was done.

Evans umpired the game and all his decisions were accepted by both sides without any kicking.

Both teams were ably supported by their rooters, and the cheering on the part of the Kams, even in the face of defeat, was something new to Honolulu. They never at any time gave up hope of winning, and not until their last man was declared out did the rooters stop cheering.

Following is the score by innings:

Delicate Wash Goods

ILLUSTRATED STORY NO. 25.

The ladies' thin, delicate wash goods—such as shirtwaists, skirts, negligees and underclothing—are not worn out on your person. It is the continual washing.

It is the laundry.

It is not so much the way your clothing is handled, but it is the soaps, bluing and starches that work ruin.

Now, because we launder hundreds of these garments weekly we naturally know the best materials to use to give the best satisfaction to our patrons.

We would not think of using soap containing a bit of lye on ladies' clothes.

We would never dream of using the common bluing of commerce.

We know by the analysis starches that contain acids and we do not buy them.

We keep studying and experimenting all the time in a scientific way how to launder.

Don't you think it would be safe to intrust us with your work?
